Poetry.

The Practical Lover.

I did not purchase for my bride
Rich jeweled rings and costly fans,
But what I thought would be her pride—
A set complete of pots and pans.

I would not win sweet Jennie's love
By golden gifts of magic power:
If she a proper wife would prove
She would prefer some bags of flour.

I did not play with Jennie's heart,
Nor try to fix it were it fickle,
But sent mistrusting modern art,
A side of pork for her to pickle.

I did not give her rubies red,
To lend her raven hair relief.
But what would charm when we were wed—
A good supply of potted beef.

I did not wanton with her love,
That pined to nestle on my breast,
Just like a drooping, tired dove,
But sent a couch where it could rest.

I did not when the moon was bright,
Take Jennie out for tranquil walks;
But took her—what would more delight—
A dozen each of knives and forks.

I did not send her flowers bright,
Whose brightness, ah! so quickly wanes,
But sent her, in the darkest night;
A set of sheets and counterpanes,

And so at last our little store
Would furnish well an ivied cot.
But then—I should have said before—
She jilted me, and kept the lot.

Selected Story.

A Great Operation.

"Say, John,—didn't that woman go away crying?"

"She was sniffling a bit," answered John Gleddin slipping around from behind his counter.

"I should call it crying," said George Austin, the first speaker. "What was it?"

"Why—fact is, old fellow, she pawned a brooch here a few weeks ago, and just now she wanted to redeem it: but the time was more than up, and I couldn't do it."

"Couldn't do it? Why not?"

"Why—bless your soul! The brooch was pearls and garnet in one of the tinest settings I ever saw—the pearls pure oriental, and the garnet like a crimson ruby."

"And how much had you advanced on it?"

"Ten dollars."

"And it was worth—"

"Fifty, at least."

"And very likely, it was a keepsake."

"So she said. But it isn't safe to believe the stories of the poor creatures that come to pawn jewelry. She had her needs and I have my rules. She knew the rules before she left the brooch, and she had no business to come back for it after the time was up."

John Gleddin and George Austin were cousins. George's mother had been a sister to John's father; but the mother and the father were both dead, and John and George were orphans. George had learned the printer's trade, and was at present engaged upon a daily paper, while John had worked his way into a pawn-broker's office; and, though only five-and-twenty, had learned all the tricks of trade, that can extort money from the poor and the needy. But John Gleddin did not do business under his own name. The man before him had used the name of "Joshua Slurr," and this same name John used. "Joshua Slurr" appeared beneath the three golden balls over the door; and it was also upon the business cards; and furthermore, all his receipts and pawn tickets John signed "J. Slurr."

"I don't know," John," said George who was his cousin's junior by two years, after a season of reflection, "but I think I would rather plod on at my type-case than be in your business."

"Pshaw! You're soft-headed. I tell you, George, I am making money. You have no idea of the profit."

"For instance," said George, "you have made perhaps twenty dollars on that brooch."

"Aye,—thirty."

"Well, I wouldn't have the weight of that poor woman's sobs and tears on my conscience for ten times the amount. So you can see just how I feel."

"Pshaw!"

Shortly afterward George Austin went away to the printing-office and as it was well into the evening John made preparations for closing up. He had put most of his jewelry into the safe when the door of his office was opened, and an elderly gentleman entered—a good looking man he was, and very respectably dressed, though his garb was much worn, and considerably soiled, and smelled strongly of salt water.

"Is the proprietor in?" asked the gentlemen.

John nodded assent.

"Mr. Slurr, I think?"

John repeated his assenting nod.

"I am caught in a tight place," said the gentleman with a grim and ghastly smile, as though a pawn-broker's shop was about the most uncomfortable place, he could have selected in which to escape from his tightness. "I have just landed here in your city, and discover that my luggage, by the most ridiculous oversight on my part, has gone on to New York. In London I took a bill of exchange on Boston, and not only that, but a few five and ten-pound notes on the Bank of England, which I had with me, are by this time in the distant metropolis. So I am forced (another grim, ghastly smile) to have recourse to an establishment where credit may be laid upon a ready collateral."

John Gleddin bowed politely, and said he would be happy to be of service.

Then the gentleman took from his pocket a morrocco case upon opening which he exposed a gold watch. John took the watch, and turned to the gas-jet, and upon examining it, he found it to be a master-piece of one of the most celebrated Swiss makes—a stem winder, full ruby jewelled; of most exquisite adjustment and finish. He knew that the first cost of that watch had been not loss than three hundred dollars in gold.

"How much did you want on this?" he asked returning the watch to the case.

"I want enough to get me safely to New York."

John started off upon the many and extreme risks of his business; but the gentleman stopped him abruptly.

"I ask you to run no risk on my account. I do not propose to sell the watch. I only wish to leave it with you as security for a very small sum. I have another just like it,—I bought them as presents for two friends of mine, and would not sell them for ten times their value. Fifty dollars will answer?"

John tried to cough down the idea of advancing so much, but the cough stuck in his throat.

"For how long do you want the fifty dollars?"

"For—say—two weeks,"

Never mind the various dodges attending the transaction on the part of the broker. Suffice it to say that he at length counted out fifty dollars to his customer and took the watch; and the "trade," as he termed it, stood thus: at any time within two weeks the gentleman could redeem the watch upon the payment of sixty dollars.

"Rather steep interest," said the elderly gentleman, with a smile far more grim and severe than any which had preceded it.

John would have again explained the enormous risks of his busines, but the customer would not listen.

"What name?" said John, holding his pen over his entry book.

"Put it down Simon Snibbs, if you must have a name."

So John put it down, and then he put the watch away, and the customer departed with the fifty dollars.

After the man had gone John Gleddin took out the watch and looked at it again His eyes sparkled eagerly. Suppose any thing should happen to prevent the prompt redemption of the valuable pledge? The thought thrilled him through and through.

The days passed.—and a week passed. The days passed again; and another week had sped by.

At length the elderly gentleman returned, and asked for his watch.

"What name?" asked John professing to have forgotten.

"Snibbs—Simon Snibbs."

"Ah, yes. I remember. Let me see." —And he looked over his book.—"Really, Mr. Snibbs, you must have made a mistake. I have no watch of yours?"

"How sir," cried the customer in blank amazement. "Did I not leave with you a valuable gold watch as security for a certain sum which I borrowed of you?"

John smiled blandly.

"Not exactly as you put it, Mr. Snibbs. If you will refresh your memory, you will recolect that I bought the watch—that for value received, you gave me a regular bill of sale,—with the proviso, however that if, within two weeks from the date thereof you should pay to me the sum of sixty dollars in current funds, the watch should become again your property. The two weeks expired yesterday, sir!"

"But—sir! Will you—"

John put up his hand reprovingly.

"There is no deed of going into a passion, my dear sir, you see just how the matter stands."

From a towering rage the old man descended to argument and explanation. He told how he had been detained in New York by an unavoidable accident and how he had embraced the first possible opportunity to call for his watch,

"I had not worried much," he said, "because I had not thought that any man could be consumately mean and cold-bloodedly heartless and vile as to rob me upon such a pretext."

At this John waxed wroth and ordered the man to leave his office.

And the old gentleman evidently fearing that he should be led to the commission of some foolish outrage if he remained longer within the villianous influence closed his lips tightly together, and went away.

On the afternoon of that very day, John Gleddin sold the watch to an agent of a Philadelphia house for two hundred and seventy-five dollars.

"Hi yah!" he cried, as George Austin dropped in the evening. "Plod on at your type case, old fellow, plod on!"

"What's up, John?"

"The greatest operation I ever made, —two hundred and twenty-five dollars in pocket at a single turn of the dye—interest on fifty dollars for two weeks? What d'ye think of that?"

"If money were man's chief end," said George soberly,—"if money was the sole source of happiness,—I should say you were on the road. But you know my sentiments, and we won't argue the point And, besides, we haven't time. I came to let you know that Uncle Moses has got home."

"Uncle Moses!" cried John, clapping his hands.

"Yes he has just arrived, and called on me this afternoon. He wants you and I to come and see him at the Tremont this evening."

"Of course we'll go and see him," said John starting at once to put away his valuables. "The old fellow must be rich as mud, and you and I are his only relatives, but I dont think of that. I only remember how I used to love him in the old days, when my mother was alive and he used to cheer and comfort her, and used to play with me under the great trees."

"And I remember," added John, "how he used to tell me that I ought to have my ears boxed because I robbed bird's nests, and stole apples and peaches from the neighbor's gardens. But that was a long time ago. I have forgiven him for all that. I say George, if he should take a fancy to us, we're in luck, ain't we? You won't say anything about—about—"

"About what?"

"I was going to say about my business; but never mind. Only those who have been behind the scenes know the crooks and turns."

"You need not fear that I shall say anything to your disadvantage, John. You'll find Uncle Moses just one of the jolliest and kindest hearted men you ever saw."

And as John had locked his safe, and finished his toilet, the two cousins set forth.

Uncle Moses Gleddin had been brother to John's father and to George's mother, and for many years he had been away in Europe engaged in responsible agencies for American houses; and it was known that he had amassed a fortune. He had married in youth, but his wife had died leaving no children, and he had never married again; so that the expectant nephews were not without foundation.

At length the young men reached the hotel, and as George had been there before he led the way.

"Uncle Moses," said, he upon entering the room where a genial faced, smiling, portly, elderly gentleman arose to receive him, "this is John.—John, this is Uncle Moses."

John looked, and turned pale as death.

Uncle Moses looked, and flushed like a scarlet rose.

"How—this—John?"

"Of course it is John, sir." said George, in answer.

"And not Joshua Slurr?"

"O," cried George, thinking that by some accident Uncle Moses might have seen John's face beneath the pawn broker's sign, "that is the name of the man who was in business before him."

"And," added Uncle Moses severely, "If I mistake not, it is the name under which he now does business for himself."

John Gleddin could not deny it, for he saw, in his Uncle Moses, the man from whom he had so meanly taken the valuable watch. He tried to say something, but the words choked him; and he stood like a whipped cur before his relative. Finally he mustered up courage enough to ask the old man to forgive him.

"I may forgive you," answered Uncle Moses, "but I can not take you into my confidence just yet. I think you had better go home and sleep upon it. Let us both sleep upon it. I would rather not talk of it now. The wound is too fresh."

John Gledden was no more anxious to stop than his uncle was to detain him; and without further words he took his departure. Once more at the office he thought of the watch he had sold, and of the two-hundred and twenty-five dollars profit he had made; and the conviction was forced upon him that his great operation was likely to prove a very heavy settler upon his greater expectation.

And so it ultimately proved. Uncle Moses could not take the dishonest, unscrupulous nephew to his confidence, nor to his love; nor could John muster the impudence to claim the tender regard of one whom he had so meanly and so unmitigatedly wronged and abused. The result was that the true-hearted printer ere long left his type setting and assumed the wealth which Uncle Moses deemed him worthy and well qualified to enjoy. What the pawn-broker may gain in time we cannot say; but if he ever regains the confidence he has lost, it will be when he has shown by his works that he regards truth and honor as of more value than the sordid profits of such operations as have heretofore soiled his hands.

Miscellaneous.

Our Father.

Fatherhood is the central light of the Household of the Empyrean, and from it came that spark which, glows in every household of love on earth, teaching men that he is greatest who suffers most for the sake of others. And, lest the faint analogies should be too dim for our eyes, he sent forth his Son, to save a world from doom, while yet it was his enemy. As he was coming to earth, angles cried, "Good will to men!" As he was departing from life, he sent back the cry, "Father forgive them!" His life between these points is written in a sentance, "He went about doing good."

I worship such a God as is revealed in Christ!

I need such a One; fate will not help me. I need such a One; for I am deformed, I am selfish, I am proud, I am wayward. The forces that are in men drive this engine in me with terrible alacrity, and I have striven to over come it; but day and night it masters me; and day and night to the innermost secrets of my soul, my consciousness says, "Unclean! unclean! Dear Love, be merciful!" I need a God who shall bear with me; and such is my God!! My God carries in his heart atonement.

Men ask me, "Why do you not preach atonement?" Have I not preached about Gods's love? What atonement is greater than the nature of God? Atonement is God. Do you suppose God shoved out of himself a little historic drama which was mightier and better than he? What was that but a symbol to interpret what he is everlastingly in himself? The heart of God it is that overcomes. This is that grace by which we are saved. This is that mercy which abounds without depth and without exhaustion.

God the Lover; God the All-good; God that will not by any means clear the guilty; God that would save them every one; God that will use pain and joy alike in dealing with those whom he loves, to make them his children—this is the God whom I worship, and against whom you sin. This is the God toward whom I call you to repent. Repent of an unfilial life. Repent of selfishness over against such bounty. Repent of all that is low and base and disobedient as against the Father who waits for you in the heavenly land. I call you to the service of this God, magnificent in glory, transcendent in beauty, but most of all because long-suffering, abundant in mercy, "forgiving iniquity; transgression, and sin." To this God I call you. In him trust. Live by him here. Die in faith of him. Rise toward him. Rejoice with him forever and forever.—Beecher.

Jefferson's Ten Rules.

Jefferson's ten rules are good yet, especially so for those who have the training of the pupils in our public schools. They are so short and concise, and embody so much of value, that it would be well if they were clipped and put where we could see them often. They read as follows;

1. Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day.
2. Never trouble another for what you can do yourself.
3. Never spend your money before you have it.
4. Never buy what you do not want because it is cheap.
5. Pride costs more than hunger, thirst, than cold.
6. We seldom repent of having eaten too little.
7. Nothing is troublesome that we do willingly.
8. How much pain the evils have cost us that have never happened.
9. Take things always by the smooth handle.
10. When angry, count ten before you speak; if very angry, count a hundred.

We clip the following from the Troy, (N. Y.) Whig:

"Some three months since Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., commenced advertising in the Whig an article called "Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. We believed at the time it was one of the many catch-penny arangements to swindle people out of their money, but during the past few weeks have become convinced to the contrary. We know of several prominent citizens who have suffered from that loathsome disease "Catarrh," and they pronounce Dr. Sage's Remedy no humbug, and in several instances have been entirely cured. We desire to give Dr. Pierce the benefit of the same.

Judge Settle's Speech.

At a celebration at Greensboro', N. C., on Saturday week, Judge Settle was one of the speakers. He made a magnificent effort. He exposed the libel of the New York Tribune about his drawing pay for the mission to Peru without performing service, and showed up another falsehood published by the Democratic papers of the North about his paying out money to be used as a bribe. He said he was nominated for Congress against his repeatedly expressed wishes, and while absent from home. He was beaten, apparently, 242 votes, but there were frauds enough in one county to overcome that majority. We make room for a few passages of the speech to show the spirit of the speaker, who spoke amid the most enthusiastic demonstrations:

"Fellow-citizens: We celebrate to night one of the greatest political victories ever achieved in North Carolina, or, indeed in any State in the Union. The new party, which has not as yet been able to name itself, declared that as went North Carolina in August, so would go the Union in November. Believing this it has made a most desperate fight, a better one than it will ever be able to make again. It fought, however, under a black flag, observing none of the rules of honorable political warfare. Tammany furnished money without stint, and emissaries, skilled in all the arts of manipulating registration books, ballot-boxes, and election returns. Their leading men came in from Nebraska, Wisconsin, Missouri, Pennsylvania, and other States to excite and arouse them at their free barbacues, which were almost as numerous as cross roads; but in spite of all this we have elected that honest man and unflinching patriot, Tod R. Caldwell, and the whole State ticket by two thousand majority. The Executive department, thank God, will be in the hands of honest men and true patriots for the next four years. By a gross "gerrymandering" of the State the Democrats have carried the Legislature and elected a majority of the members of Congress. But we have made large gains in the Legislature, and will be able to arrest such of their proposed constitutional amendments as are hurtful to our good old State.

* * * * * * *

"Notwithstanding all their efforts, the Republicans of the 5th district have reduced the large Democratic majority to almost nothing, and have contributed to the glorious triumph which we celebrate to-night. We know what estimate our opponents placed upon a supposed victory. Falsehood travels a thousand miles while truth is putting on her boots. In consequence of false telegrams, Democrats have burned powder in the Northern cities, and have rejoiced as never before over an election in North Carolina. This but adds to our triumph, and now that the truth is known, let us rejoice and accept at least one Democratic statement as true. As went North Carolina on the 1st of August, so will go the Union in November. Is there a Republican in the state who now doubts our ability to carry the State for Grant and Wilson by at least 10,000 majority. If there be one such, let him dismiss his doubts, take courage, and march straight on to victory. We have gained on the election of 1870 more than seven thousand votes. We know that our colored friends will stand firm, and it is gratifying to me to be able to announce that in the recent election our largest gains were among the white population of the west. We all know that Grant is the strongest nomination which could have been made on our side, and that Greeley is about the weakest that could have been made on the Democratic side.

* * * * * * *

"Show me a man who for years since the surrender has been cursing the Government of the United States, and I will show you a zealous supporter of Horace Greeley. Show me a man who has thrown a rotten egg at the flag of his country, and I will show you a man who is throwing up his hat for Greeley. Show me a man who is carefully keeping a list of his former slaves, believing that some day he will recieve pay for them, and I will show you an active supporter of Greely; and every time that you can show me a Ku Klux who has whipped, scourged, and murdered his neighbors, I will show you an enthusiastic supporter of Horace Greeley.

* * * * * * *

"Let us turn from this picture to the field of Appomattox. We there find General Lee at the head of his tattered, worn, half-fed, half-clad regiments, offering his sword in surrender to General Grant, and when Grant, with kind words, refused to receive it, brave men who had faced death on a hundred fields wept like children. Instead of wishing to see the brave men who had surrendered to him find poverty at their firesides and privation in the anxious eyes of mothers and the rags of children General Grant direct

DEMOCRATIC FRAUDS AND ILLEGAL VOTING.

It was a part of the programme of the Democratic managers, fixed up before the election, in case of defeat to strike up a bowl of corruption, fraud, and illegal voting. They are now carrying out the pre arranged programme. Their object is to cover up their own tracks in order, if possible, to prevent the Republicans from contesting the seats of those Democrats who were elected by intimidation and fraud. Never were greater frauds perpetrated by any party in this State or more illegal voting done than by the Democrats this year. The proof is at hand. We refer to a few cases.

In Duplin County the Democratic County Commissioners violated the law by only appointing one Republican at the polls, and in some of the precincts none. The Democrats threatened colored men that if they voted the Republican ticket they must leave their houses, and thereby forfeit the little crops that they have made during the present season. They killed one poor colored man, a few weeks ago, for the express purpose of frightening the Republicans. A large number of colored men who had been South to work on railroads whose families and homes are in Duplin county, arrived at Magnolia and other townships on the night previous to the election. They had come home for the purpose of seeing their families and to vote as free men. They went to the polls and inquired if their names were on the Register's books, and the poll holders (all of them Democrats) told them yes but they could not vote. They were refused and disfranchised. In one instance six men went to the polls, two white and four colored, and the poll holders allowed the white men to register and vote, but forbid the colored. In Brunswick County, the Democratic County Commissioners appointed their poll holders, and in one township where the Republicans had eighty-three majority, they threw out the vote on account of some informality in the returns, probably made with previous understanding, the Commissioners thereby defeating the will of the people by giving Merrimon a majority of three.

Onslow County was carried by intimidation, by threats, pistols, kuklux evolutions and mob voilence. The same things were done in New Hanover, Onslow Sampson and Bladen counties. And yet after all this, and a thousand fold more, the Democrats howl about Republican frauds and illegal voting. It is the old cry of the theif leading the search and crying "stop thief."

WOOD'S "GOOD WORK."

The notorious W. P. WOOD, sent by the Greeley National Committee from New York to "help carry the election" in this State, went to work with a will, and the leading Democrats in this State, with whom he cooperated felt certain that the result would be a victory for them. So confident were they of this that Gen. D. M. BARRINGER telegraphed to his friends in New York on the 3rd as follows:

Still better news from the West; enough to secure the election of Merrimon beyond doubt. Wood did a good work in the counties. Laus Deo, a hard fight and a glorious victory. Fire 100 guns in the City Hall Park.

D. M. BARRENGER.

Now what was the "work" performed by WOOD for which Gen. BARRENGER so highly compliments him? He did not speak. He could not vote. The frauds in the West, and the disfranchising of thousands of Republican voters there are a part and parcel of this "work." Our friends at Raleigh learned, too late to prevent it, that such "work" was being done by the Democrats, but we did not expect to see it leak out and be acknowledged so soon.

The Democrats of Delaware refuse to be "ringed in the nose." At their State Convention the other day they tabled a resolution to endorse GREELEY. Many of the leading Democrats of the State are organizing for the Louisville Convention.

OUR FACILITIES FOR MANUFACTURING PURPOSES NO. 2.

We resume this subject because it is one of deep interest to us and of vital interest to this whole section of country. Suppose—and it is by no means an impossible or improbable supposition—suppose, we say, that a Company, such as we suggested two weeks ago, should organize and erect a Cotton Factory at Elizabeth City, another a large Flouring Mill and a third the establishment of Machinery for the Manufacture of Agricultural Implements. Would it pay? And secondly, who would be benefited?

That these are interesting questions all admit; but too many of the superficial pronounce them utopian, while the few unmitigated old fogies, who view the present as the very limit of development and progress, shake their heads and pass sentence that "Elizabeth City will never be much more of a place."

With all due deference to this latter class we beg to assure them that they are mistaken, or, that if their prediction proves true it will be the fault of the people of our town and not its locality or the facilities surrounding it. As for the other class, we have an abiding faith that ere five more years roll bye they will realize that their utopian dream has become a practical reality.

But to our two simple questions: And first—would enterprizes of this kind, in this locality pay? Why not? They pay in our large cities where labor is high and the cost of living expensive. Capitalists send here for the raw material as well as for the produce to feed their workmen and yet they find it to pay. New England makes it profitable. With all the inconveniences and all the expenses attendant upon the hundreds of miles of transportation, they are enabled to realize enormous profits.

Do not these facts answer the question? If enterprizes of this kind, hundreds of miles away from the points where the Cotton and the grain are grown, and with no other advantages at all superior, prove a profitable investment of capital, we submit it whether they would not prove equally as profitable—nay infinitely more so, were they erected right at the fountain head of the raw material? The very statement of the case is sufficient. It needs no argument. The proposition is self evident—the facts are conclusive.

Our position is favorable. Our locality is beautiful. Our outlets are good and can be improved. Labor is abundant and cheap. That it would pay there is no question. In our next we will endeavor to show who it would benefit.

DON'T KILL THE BIRDS.

We cannot help marvelling at the disposion manifested by so many in quite too many sections of the country to "make war" upon the birds. It is all a great mistake—all wrong. We enter a plea against it, not upon the ground of cruelty alone, but on the other one to which men more readily hearken—the ground of policy.

The Farmer, or too many of them, has imbibed the idea that the feathered tribe are his enemies. He is led to view them not as a nuisance merely, but as an anoyance, robbing him of his grain, his corn, etc. Now this is an error. It is the looking at things from a wrong stand-point. Birds are among the farmers best, most profitable friends. We mean what we say. They not only cheer him with their presence and their song, but prove themselves invaluable to him by keeping down the "insect tribe," which were it not for them, would prove annoying to the farmer and destructive to his crops. Just in proportion as these are numerous—the insects we mean—are the fruit and grain crops jeopardized and injured. The birds destroy these real enemies—keep them down—prevent them from doing their destructive work.

The great trouble is, these "carroling friends of man" are too few. The exterminating process has been waged too far. Let it cease. Let the birds be protected. In time they will protect us.

We will just add an incident occurring some time since in one of the West India Islands, illustrating the fact. It was supposed that a species of bird called Grakle, was destructive of vegetation and a reward was offerd for each head, and the whole of the juvenile population, with the whole available colored subjects, commenced a slaughter of the birds, which resulted in their extermination. But the next season showed the folly and wickedness of the people; the insects increased to an alarming extent. The coffee plantations were devoured, and it was found that there could be no more coffee raised until the plantations were restocked with the Grakle.

We repeat then, don't kill the birds, spare them, protect them, encourage them to come and increase among us.

LOST.

The leader of the Greeley managers in the Union is Col. ETHAN ALLEN of New York. He it was that sent TRUMBULL, DOOLITTLE, TIPTON, SCHURZ and others into this State to speechify during the late canvass. To operate upon the colored voters he employed a colored orator named WM. U. SAUNDERS. Great expectations were founded upon this man's eloquence and supposed influence with the colored people. But when the issue proved that as far as his labors were concerned Col. ALLEN might have kept his money, the "carpet bag" orator was thrown upon the defensive and was requested to answer the question: "Where are the ten thousand colored votes you promised me for the —— dollars I gave you?" It is said the answer isn't satisfactory to the Colonel. Of course not. The money is lost, and so is the election.

The "bloody chasm" in North Carolina has frightened the Greeley men so much that they have stopped shaking hands and taken to shaking all over like men with the ague.—Exchange.

Just waite 'til the news comes from Maine and they'll shake worse still.

The majority for Gov. CALDWELL will be about 2200. This is a gain of over 7000 on the vote of 1870. North Carolina is good for 10,000 majority for GRANT.

A WORD TO NEWSPAPER SPONGERS.

DR. JOHN;—I wish you would say a word for the especial benefit of a few persons at this place who certainly deserve a moral lecture. On every Friday—your paper does not reach here before—these customers are in our store and are the first to open and read the NORTH CAROLINIAN. They are abundantly able, and desire to be numbered among our most honorable and public spirited men, but they "can't afford to take so many papers," and "take more than they can read now," are the reasons for not having the CAROLINIAN sent to them. We do not like to mention names, but really it is becoming an annoyance. A hint from you might have the desired effect.

Respectfully, ——

Persons of this character are to be found in every community—men who refuse to take their local paper, and all the time sponge upon their neighbors for theirs. A few of them may indulge in the habit thoughtlessly, but others continue it from the inherent meanness characterizing them. This latter are impervious to "hints" or "lectures" of any kind. They cannot be reached.

But to the other class—those who are guilty through thoughtlessness, we have a word to say, and may it induce them to act more honorably and consistently. We have a number of these in our mind's eye at this writing. When asked to subscribe for the CAROLINIAN they refuse on the ground that they take more papers than they can read already. We watch them and what do we see? Why some of these very men, as soon as our paper is issued and reach es its destination, go and borrow their neighbor's paper to read, or loaf upon him until they get all the news out of it, thus showing conclusively, after all, that they find time to read at least one paper more than they take. The reason is, their local paper has attractions and interest they can scarce resist. They must read it; but so long as they can do so at other's expense they embrace the opportunity. Now we submit it, is this right? Is it honorable? Then you deprive your family of enjoying that which would afford them a like interest, for in nine cases out of ten a well conducted local paper is preferred by most families to those published abroad.

These "hints" are not alone intended for the class indicated, but we desire them to apply that other class who would be looked up to as your solid men—your rich men, and yet who "cannot afford to take so many papers." And very few they do take. But they manage to be about, when the paper comes, in time to read it at the expense of a neighbor not worth one-tenth of what they are. It is so "thrifty and economical," and then "every dollar counts!" Aha, it is the song of the miser.

Our advice to all is, patronize your home papers. Take them yourselves, instead of annoying your neighbor and "cheating the printer." Take them for your own satisfaction; take them to interest your family; take them to encourage the publishers in making them what your local papers should be. They need your countenance, your influence, your patronage. Withhold these no longer.

THE INCREASE OF OUR REPUBLICAN WHITE VOTE.

A close examination of the figures will show the very important fact that the Democrats have been defeated in this State, not by the colored, but by the white vote. Look at the official returns. In the eastern counties, where the colored population is dense, the average Republican increase per county was 243, and the Democrats 179. In the centre of the State, where whites and blacks are more evenly balanced, we find an average Republican increase of 248 per county, and a Democratic increase of 169; but in the west, where the whites greatly preponderate, there is an average Republican increase per county of 246, while the Democratic gain is only 156. In other words: As the white population increases, the Democratic gain steadily decreases, while the Republican gain increases.

Now had the relative vote of the two parties in the counties where the white vote is largest remained as in 1870, and the increase of both in the other counties been as they are, the Republicans would have been overwhelmingly defeated. We own our success then to the gratifying fact that a large additional number of white men have shaken off the bonds of prejudice and voted the Republican ticket. The Republican Party is rapidly gaining a firm foot hold among the masses of the Southern whites, and here in North Carolina, by the union of patriots, white and black, it is becoming invincible.

Mr. Goodloe, of North Carolina, one of the Liberal Republican National Committe, arrive here to-day. He says numbers of colored men were brought from the adjoining State, by way of the Dismal Swamp Canal, who were registered and voted like cattle.—N. Y. Tribune.

Mr. GOODLOE either did or he did not make the statement. The Tribune is no longer reliable authority—has become reckless in its assertions. If he did make it, he simply—lied. There was nothing of the sort attempted or accomplished by way of the Canal, or in this end of the State. But this kind of lying the Greeleyites find it necessary to resort to in order to break the force of their defeat in this State.

The Japaneese Embassy, on leaving for Europe, addressed to the Secretary of State at Washington a very courteous letter, acknowledging his private and official acts of kindness; and also the attentions which they have received in various cities during their stay in this country.

The present opposition to the Republicans is a mongrel combination. GREELEY is trying to cheat the Democrats, and the Democrats are trying to cheat him, and both are trying to cheat the people! It is a game of "diamond cut diamond" all around.

There is a Democratic bolt in nearly every State in favor of the Louisville Convention next month.

THE QUESTION NOW BEFORE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

The election of a President is the most important act which we are called on to perform. Its close and tender relations to our most valued rights and privileges, to the national dignity and to the national progress, is plain and universally recognized. Hence, let people say what they will, or argue what they may, when they come to the test this relation is sensitively borne in mind. It will be generally admited by men of all parties that among the things he prizes the average loyal American holds most dear the preservation of the Union. There can be no dispute about this. From Bull Run to Appomattox, the pages of our history are crowded with proofs of it, even were they lacking before or after. Hundreds of thousands of lives and millions of money were cheerfully laid down for it. Sacrifice after sacrifice of home, of fortune, of friends, of health, were made for this one end, and none can say that the people reckon the purchase too dearly made. The memorable fact has been demonstrated beyond cavil that loyal America was willing to endure any sacrifices rather than give up the Union. This Union, then, which has cost such blood, and such treasure, holds the first place in the affections of the American voter. Whether it should be so or not is beside the question; there is no disputing the fact.

For this reason, the bearing of the Presidential election upon the interests and the stability of the Union is of the most significant character, and here is without doupt the foremost of those simple considerations we have spoken of which sophistry, or canvassing, or rhetoric cannot touch. So, when the question is put—How stands Gen. GRANT as regards the Union?—we know instinctively what to say. Every man, woman and child in this broad Republic well knows that in the list of all the firm, strong, immovable servants and friends of the Union during the war the name of GRANT stands first and most illustrious; and that, as such, it must infallibly go down to posterity wreathed with laurels no less imperishable than those of WASHINGTON and of LINCOLN. In a word, with GRANT the Union is sure, for he is a man who never tires, who will never forsake the cause of the Union, or forego his devotion to the flag and to the integrity of the national territory. But suppose there stood at the head of the nation, instead of the universally successful soldier and the uncompromising Unionist, a civilian of totally different type and convictions, it would be folly to say that we should be certain of a continuance of the existing situation. And if, to push matters further, a man were put in the White House, a man like HORACE GREELEY who had notoriously admitted the right of secession, who had held free and amicable correspondence with leading secessionists while the country was in the very agony of war, who repeatedly gave counsel, after defeat, that the South should be allowed to go, without further strife, and who finally set the seal of his sympathy with the rebel cause by going bail for the chief who, its head and front, was more responsible than any other man on the continent for the fratricidal struggle—then we must distinctly assert that there would be very serious danger that the ideas and hopes which have sunk out of sight, and almost out of memory, in the presence of GRANT, would revive and flourish again when encouraged by such a successor.

We are not so very far away from the war yet. The men are not all dead who once fought, and hoped, and prayed, for the Stars and Bars. Successful revolt has more than once in history followed failure; and, were a weak civilian and an eccentric doctrinaire to supplant at this juncture the stern warrior who has so splendidly guarded the Republic, he must have more presumption than judgment who should declare there would be no danger of a repetition of such historical precedents.

A correspondent from Columbia County, Penn., the home of the Hon. Charles R. Buckalew, declares that the Liberal majority will be fully 2,500, being 700 more than the usual Democratic majority.—Tribune

This is another sample of Tribune reliability. We happen to know something about the above named county. Its average Democratic majority is 1500. But as BUCKALEW's personal organ does not raise the name of GREELEY, and as the Democratic County Convention just held in his town dodged endorsing the action of the Baltimore Convention it is doubtful whether GREELEY can carry the County by 1,000 majority.

The Democrats threaten to contest CALDWELL's election. Let them attempt it if they dare. It is a game two can play at. Begin it and they will not only fail but Republicans will gain at least two Members of Congress and ten Members of the Legislature who were defeated by intimidation and fraud.

"Greeley was a mighty bitter pill" to swallow, but our party was mighty sick."—Democratic Speakers.

Following this pill the poor fellows were obliged to swallow a big dose of North Carolina bitters! Sick folks must expect to take medicine.

Mr. Greeley is understood to be for the compensation of the losses of the South in the war.—Exchange.

We know a good many of his followers who would like to have him compensate them for their losses in North Carolina.

A song for GRATZ BROWN—"the little Brown jug."

A year since Greeley furiously denounced Doolittle because he was the Democratic candidate for Governor of Wisconsin. Now the aforesaid Doolittle tenders a Democratic nomination to Greeley, and the latter says he proves himself a better Republican than ever by accepting it.

Things are getting lively in Illionis. Adother "Joilet man" has come out for Greeley. He was pardoned out. He will not take the stump, but he will take anything else he can lay his hands on.

Correspondence.

From an Edenton Correspondent.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

On night of the 15th August, the supporters of Greeley and Brown had a meeting at the Court House in Edenton. For several days notices had been posted informing the people that every body was invited to be present on that night for the purpose of organizing a Club. Considerable foresight was exercised in calling the meeting for Thursday night, because a large attendance was thereby secured. If it had been on Wednesday night, no crowd would have been secured as everybody goes to the Steamboat. If it had been Friday night, not a corporals guard could have been gathered; for these Greeleyites believe in predictions and signs, and they all know Friday is an unlucky day. The bell was rung twice, first time we presume to notify them to get ready, and second time for them "to get" or come.

In the course of the evening we stryaed around and found the Club under full headway. Maj. Gilliam was President, Mr. F. W. Bond Secretary, and Mr. ——and Mr.——movers and seconders of all resolutions. Perfect order was kept, everything worked like machinery, even to the whittling of sticks. There was, for a long time, no noise; all seemed engaged in anxious thought or silent prayer. During this interval we had opportunity to count those present. Fourteen followers of the Cincinnati Candidates, eight boys, and about a dozen Republicans composed the meeting.

After a time it was moved, seconded and unanimously carried, that in one week a committee of five should select officers and write a constitution for the Club. We though tt irisky, for no one can tell what a fuss the candidates for offices will make with the committees, and during that time some of them will certainly draw a convention act, or twenty-five articles to amend the constitution. They will not learn from experience, and of course must expect trouble. After a time, one gentlemen arose and proceeded to say, that he attended the Jubilee in Boston and was in the Coliseum the same day Horace Greeley was there. (That's a good recommendation for office, when Horace is elected.) He said he knew it was Greeley as soon as he entered the door, that he was one of the finest looking men in the country "and was very much such a looking man as you sir," addressing the chairman.

Chairman and speaker smiled and nodded at each other. The speaker then proceeded to say that every decent white man would join the Club, (applause tremendous from three members.) that no Southern State but South Carolina would vote for Grant, and everybody in the North at the Hotels and on the Rail Roads and Steamboats, was for Greeley.

The chairman then made a characteristic speech, amid applause, in the course of which he remarked that no such enthusiasm had been seen since 1840, and that Grant would not get more than five States.

Mr. Pruden then made a speech in which he said the issues of the past were dead and there was nothing that would save the country but the election of Greeley and Brown; that the election in this State was carried by fraud, and the Legislature would probably declare Merrimon Governor. In this connection he informed the audience that the United States Treasury was bankrupt, for Mr. Sam Bond, U. S. Clerk in this place had sent a draft for thirty one dollars to the Department, which was not paid because the Marshalls had drawn all the money for the elections. He said we shall charged be with inconsistency, that Greeley was the friend of everybody, whilst Grant carried in his bosom hatred to the whites of the South. Greeley and Brown will certainly be elected because they had been nominated by two great National Conventions. After indulging in some abuse of the Legislature of 1868–69 and the Radicals generally, the speaker closed by saying that old Grimes is in the Hymn Book now, and on 5th November next we would close the campaign with a methodist camp meeting shout over the election of Greeley. (Tremendous applause from some three members.) Thereupon another awkward silence ensued. After some whispered consultation, Mr;——moved that the roll be called so as to see who had joined. It was done, and seventeen names were found enrolled. Some lobbying then took place, and then more were added with the remark that one gentleman had a Greeley hat which he would erect on a pole. (Is the history of Gester and Tell to be reenacted?)

The Club then adjourned in silence.

When the next meeting takes place your reporter will endeavor to be present and make a note of the proceedings. Strange to say during the whole meeting not one tear was shed over poor Carter's fate, nor was there the faintest allusion to his name, Alas! alas! how the fame of the mighty has passed away.

REPUBLICAN.

Edenton N. C., Aug 16th, 1872.

Our Washington Letter. No. 3.

Washington, D. C., August 17, 1872.

Washington as your readers know, is comparatively dull in summer, as great numbers leave the city for haunts of ease and pleasure. All like to withdraw from the cares of business to the vernal hills and valleys of their native State, or go with the crowd to the many fashionable watering places.

In consequence of these absences the business of the city is never so brisk in the warm months. It is not because Washington is not healthy, nor because it is not the most lovely city in the country, that this exodus takes place, for it certainly is both of these; but it is the natural desire of us all for a change from the toil and monotony of in-door life.

ARCHING THE TIBER.

The work of arching the Tiber, that crooked little stream, running through our city, which has for so many years been a source of annoyance to our people, has begun, and it will probably, judging from the progress that has been made the last two weeks, be finished by January.

RIOTOUS LABORERS.

On Saturday, August 10, while the contractor of N and O streets was paying off his hands, an altercation ensued as to whether a workmen should be charged for lost time. The affair culminated in the man's diving for the contractor,s cash-box, a general fight, and no one hurt but the contractor, who got slightly bruised with a stone.

WHO DID THE COLORED MEN VOTE FOR?

The vote of North Carolina shows that the negroes, to a man, will vote for General Grant. They can't be made to like or trust a coalition with rebels, even if Senator Sumner does advise them to. Several meetings have been held in this city by the colored people since Sumner's letter appeared, and all have come to the conclusion that they like what he has done, but not what he is now doing.

THE EIGHT HOUR LAW.

Before the administration of General Grant the eight hour law was unknown, and the rights of the working-men undefined. Clearly, the Republican party is the workingman's party. The law making eight hours a legal day's work in the departments of the Government, was but the commencemeat of a system of labor that will soou be general throughout the United States under a Republican administrations. The law was strenuously opposed by the Democrats in Congress, and it will be opposed, and all other laws tending to lighten the labors and increase the comforts of the man of toil, by that party, so long as it has a voice in our Government.

HON. A. M. CLAPP,

Superintendent of Government Printing, rakes down a Democratic paper here for various attacks upon him; the latest being in the form of a communication purporting to have been written by one of his employees, charging him with encroaching upon the civil service reform, by having a paper circulated in the establishmen asking for contributions to aid in defraying expenses of the Congressional and National Union Republican Executive Committees. The Government Printing Office is not a Department, it is in the hands of the Senate exclusively, therefore it does not come under the rule of the civil service. No one has to pass an examination to enter this establishment, as it is a trade, and the prices of labor rigorously governed by one of the strongest trades-unions in the country; but this grumbler in a Democratic paper, did not consider these facts in his anxiety to find fault.

Mr. Clapp concludes the defense of the propriety of his course with the following slashing hit at a class of men in his employ who will understand whom he means: "And further, in this connection, I desire to say that while I am opposed to arbitrary assessments for party political purposes, I hold to the opinion that every man who holds position under a Republican Administrations, I care not how humble the position may be, is in duty and honor bound to render voluntary and cheerful aid by contribution of money and honorable effort, as he possesses the ability, to sustain the fortunes of that party, which has not only contributed to his advancement, but has preserved the nation from rebellion and revolution."

SENATOR SUMNER AND FRED. DOUGLASS

Senator Sumner's attempt to create prejudice against General Grant, by charging him with neglect of Frederick Douglass, at the time he gave a dinner to some of the San Domingo Commissioners, has met with a second failure. Mr. Douglass says a few of the Commissioners were at the President's House, and that they were informally invited to dine with him; and that he was one of two-thirds of the commission who did not receive an invitation, and that he had dined three times a day with all these gentlemen for ten weeks. In conclusion, Mr. Douglass thus eulogizes the President: "My second answer is that my devotion to General Grant rests upon high and broad public grounds, and not upon personal favor. I see in him the vigilant, firm, impartial, and wise protector of my race from all the malign, reactionary, social, and political elements that would whelm them in destruction. He is the rockbound coast against the angry and gnawing waves of storm-tossed ocean, saying thus far only shalt thou go."

Frederick Douglass is one of the most prominent and reliable colored men in the country. He holds a high position here, has one son in the Territorial Legislature and one in the Treasury Department.

A REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE.

It is well known that Charles-Sumner pretends that his great mission now is to secure civil rights to colored persons, among others, the right to ride on all cars the same as white persons.

The day he wrote his letter advising the colored people to surrender to the Democratic party, July 29, a mob of Greeleyites in Savannah, Ga., were shooting colored men because they attempted to exercise those same rights which had been conceded by the car company. While colored men in Savannah were weltering in their own blood, Charles Sumner, their great champion, was preparing to desert them, and that very day he did desert to the Democrats. Did Providence intend to stamp his infamy with blood?

Respectfully, S. T. B.

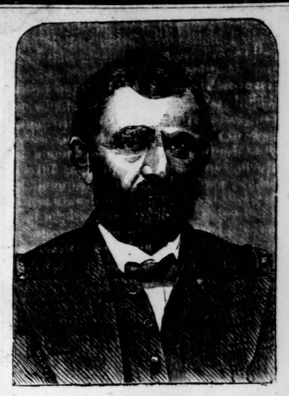
Southern Claims Commission.

The following are the names of the special commissioners of the Southern Claims Commission of North Carolina. These commissioners are authorized to take the testimony of claimants and witness in support of any claim not exceeding five thousand dollars in amount, on direct application made to themselves; but where testimony is to be taken in any case over five thousand dollars, in all, it is necessary to apply first to the commissioners at Washington. These special commissioners are the only persons authorized to take testimony for the Claims.

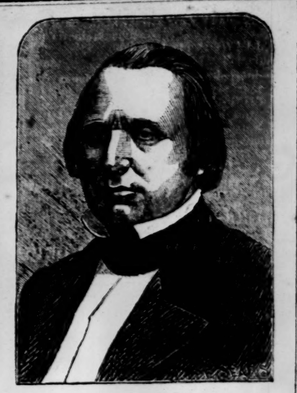
Where claimants who have filed claims exceeding $10,000 in amount, desire to reduce them below that sum, in order to escape the requirements of the late act of Congress that all claims above $10,000 should be heard orally before the Commissioners, and not otherwise, they are to be permitted to file an amended account of items to effect the desired reduction, accompanying it by an express relinquishment of so much of the original account as exceeds $10,000. This amendment to the original claim is to be personally subscribed and verified by the claimant in every case, and not by the attorney. North Carolina—John Minor, Fayetteville, Cumberland county—Josiah Dixon, Hookerton, Greene county—Elmore W. Woods, Chapel Hill, Orange county—K. R. Pendleton, Woodville. Perquimans county—E. R. Hampton, Webster, Jackson county—W. B. Glenn, Red Plains, Yadkin county—S. H. Wiley, Salisbury, Rowan county—J. N. Nelson, Ashville, Buncomb county.

Sumner will not succeed any better than Andy Johnson in his attempt to play the role of Moses for the colored people. The difficulty with Moses Sumner, as it was with Moses Johnson, is that he wants to halt the colored children on the wrong side of the river.

Hint to confederate organs about commenting on election returns: If the election appears to be in your favor, call it a "key note;" if it proves to be against you, call it a fraud.



ULYSSES S. GRANT,
Republican Candidate for President.



HENRY WILSON,
Republican Candidate for Vice President.

The Pottsville Standard (Dem.) publishes the following epitaph:

Under these stones,
Sleep Democracy's bones;
Do you ask why it perished so early?
It was feeling quite ill,
And swallowed a pill
Compound by one Doctor Greeley.

Mr. Greeley, says an exchange, has got as far as North Carolina in that N. C.—clopedia.

MARYLAND
SUPER-PHOSPHATE.
(We court the Chemist's inquiry.)

After 23 years' experience in the Fertilizing business, and after establishing a wide reputation for the purity and excellence of his Bone Dust, the subscriber has been induced to prepare a Phosphate suitable to the requirements and every way worthy the attention of the Southern Farmer.

The "MARYLAND" it a juvinator and permanent improver of the soil. It simulates equal to Peruvian Guano, and sustains equal to Bone, being composed almost entirely of these ingredients, with a very liberal per centage of Potash in the residium. There is no adulterator nor inferior article used—every particle of the Phosbhate being of essentiay benefit to the land. Neither pains nor expense have been spared in its preparation, and we claim for it the greatest benefit to the farmer from the smallest outlay,

For Cotton, Wheat and Corn, and as a general stimulant and ailment for worn and impoverished land there can be nothing superior It is warranted to run as high in Ammonia and higher in Bone Phosphate than any other fertilizer in the market.

Price $50 per ton, in new bags. No charge for delivery.

BONE DUST $45, BONE MEAL $50, DISSOLVED BONE $42, our own manufacture in new bogs; Eastern and Western BONE DUST $35. PERUVIAN GUANO delivered from Peruvian Government Warehouse at lowest rates. No charge for delivery.

☞ TO NORTHERN VISITORS.☜

Elizabeth City is 50 miles South East of Norfolk, Va. Parties coming here from the North should take passage on the Bay line Steamers which leave Baltimore at 4 P. M. every evening, and arrive at Portsmouth the next morning in time to connect with the Elizabeth City Steamers, daily.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisement in this issue.

Local and Personal.

☞ Our farmers have commenced saving fodder.

☞ Sweet Potatoes are beginning to appear in our market.

☞ Rather dull in town just now. It is the dull season.

☞ We give our readers this week, a likeness of GRANT and WILSON.

☞ The work on WEISEL's building on Water Street, is going up rapidly.

☞ Still under a cloud—the Economist. It has not been issued since the election.

☞ The Cotton prospects still look very favorable. The Corn crop promises to be fully an average one.

☞ The general health here continues good. There has been comparatively little sickness this Summer.

☞ Our City is thinned out just now. So many of our people are off at Nag's Head enjoying the comforts of that delightful Summer resort.

☞ Dr. NASH, of Camden, was buried at this place on Tuesday. The funeral rites were performed by the Masonic Order, of which he was a member.

☞ It has been decided to add another story to the new Brick Hotel. This will make it four stories high, and when completed it will be the largest Hotel in the State. The work is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

☞ Reader! look over this paper carefully, and see whether it does not contain a greater and more interesting variety of reading matter than any country paper of your acquaintance. State this fact to your neighbors and friends and induce them to subscribe.

☞ Our advice to "ADORER" is to send his effusions direct to the object of his "adoration." Their publication, we fear, would so operate on the facial muscles of our more sober readers as to produce what we generally call a—laugh! Take our advice.

☞ In reply to the question of "J. R." we would say that the word "Utopian" was the name of a work written by Sir. THOMAS MOORE. From the fact that in that work he describes an imaginary Republic the word has been applied to express anything visionary or impossible of realization.

☞ There are quite a number of Democrats in this District who object to "eating crow," and who refuse to have "rings in their noses." If the Louisville Convention shall fail to take bold and independent action these men will either take no part in the Presidential canvas or they will support GRANT. In no event will they vote for HORACE GREELEY.

☞ In order to revive the desponding spirits of the White Hat Brigade and, if possible, to prevent desertion, the Commanding officer held a meeting in the Court House here on Saturday last and formed a Greeley and Brown Club. The late missionaries through whose efforts Dare County was carried for the Republicans, are selected to do the orating at the next meeting.

☞ Too many people neglect to read the advertisements of a newspaper. They skip this part of it over, thinking it is for the especial benefit of advertisers and printers, when in fact it is for the mutual advantage of all parties. Always look over the new advertisements. You will not only find them items of news, but often see that which will interest and perhaps benefit you.

☞ We thank our Perquimans correspondent for his good words, and his efforts to "enlarge the audience for the weekly ministration of the NORTH CAROLINIAN." We agree with him that too little attention is paid to increasing the circulation of local papers in this State. They are better adapted to the wants of the rural population than the papers published at the cities.

☞ The poor fellow that "occasionally sees the NORTH CAROLINIAN, but seldom finds anything in it worthy of consideration—certainly nothing indicative of judgment or intelligence" has the sincere commiseration of the editor, as well as of a sympathizing public, for certainly those on whom the "fantastic freak of Nature" have inflicted an obliquity of mental vision are entitled to both.

☞ The Democratic leaders in this County—the men sometimes denominated the "War Horses"—are unfortunate. They are always looking behind. They are never satisfied. They have taken their position on the great issues of the past twelve years and have been wrong every time They linger behind the age All their predictions have failed. They are the instruments of defeats and failures. Their old followers are beginning to leave them. These have lost confidence, and no wonder. Officers who invariably lead their forces to defeat should expect to see some straggling and a good deal of indifference. Of course it makes the leaders feel irritable and soured, but they should remember that human nature is human nature the world over. To be whipped every time will make soldiers lose confidence in their commanders.

☞ The Steamer "Elizabeth City" has been taken off the line for repairs. For the present there will only be a tri-weekly Boat between here and Norfolk, leaving here Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and returns on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

☞ We have met during the past two weeks, several candid Democrats who reason in this way: If are we to accept the results of the war, and all the Reconstruction measures and other Republican doctrines as admitted and endorsed by the Cincinnati and Baltimore Conventions, why not accept and support GRANT who has done more than any other man to bring about these results? A logical conclusion, and hundreds of Democrats in this District will act upon it.

☞ Everywhere around us sit the sister Fates weaving the myriad webs of mortal destiny, nor does one human being entirely escape their toils. On every hand moves tragedy, romance or comedy, wearing the mask of every day life. Rarely the mask is lifted, and thrilling truth, "stranger than fiction," allows us a glimpse of its marvelous features. And 'tis better so—well that we cannot always read the feelings, thoughts and purposes of all we meet. If we could we would see alas, too often, that which would shock and pain us, aye, and make us feel that poor human nature is fallen indeed from its original high estate. Hence, we repeat, it is better that we canuot always see behind the mask—better that we try and believe there is more of happiness and peace in the world than their reverse.

☞ "A Constant Reader" writes us saying they have a Debating Society organized at his town, and that the discussions are attended with interest. The next question for debate is: "Which exerts the greatest influence, Man or Woman?" He desires us to aid him with a little argument in favor of the Woman side of the question. We do so with pleasure. Not a child, not a boy, not a man but is influenced by a mother, a sister, a sweetheart, or a wife. History is full of instances of heroism, benevolence and philanthrophy performed by women, but it is not the battle field, in the Senate, or in public that woman exerts her influence. It is over the cradle, in the nursery, around the family altar, at home, where she operates—where she is most felt. From childhood to old age, God bless her! she is ever influencing us. Though silent it is none the less powerful. Such are the facts—such the argument, and when properly presented "the Woman side of the question" will surely win.

☞ We are gratified to be able to report that the Executive Committee of the Albemarle Agricultural Society have been able to secure suitable grounds for holding the Fairs. They have procured twelve acres of the Herrington lot, on the road South of the City, near the Poor House. The terms are favorable and the location eligible and desirable. It can be reached from town by two ways—either by Road Street or Factory Avenue. The grounds will be fenced and the Track graded in due time. It is believed that the first Fair can be held not later than the early part of November. And here we would remind the subscribers to the Stock that 50 per cent of their subscriptions are now needed. Let it be paid at once that the Committee may not be embarressed in their operations in making the enterprize a success from the start. They will spare no effort on their part, and if the stockholders promptly respond there can be no such thing as failure. In the meantime let our Farmers, Mechanics and Artisans—and especially all the Ladies, for no Fair can succeed without the aid of the fair—begin to make preparations for the Exhibition. We shall have something further to say on this subject in future issues of the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

Gold—115. A very narrow aperture—the crack of a whip. The bitter end—the last half inch of a penny cigar. Gathers what he sows—the farmer. Sows what she gathers—the seamstress. How to carve—with a knife and fork of course. The lapse of time—old coat tails. Wanted by our Devil—a rose from the garden of Love and an arrow from Cupid's quiver. 'Lasses and water—the bathing beauties at Nag's Head. A pleasant kind of husbandry—removing a widow's weeds. Taken before you get it.—your photograph. One of the pleasures of life—taking off new boots and putting on old slippers. The "lost cause"—Greeleyism in North Carolina.

Business Locals.

For Hats, Shoes, Notions and Dress Goods, go to Fowlers.

What a convenience to be able to get anything to eat at any time when you are hungry. The place to be thus accommodated is at Fulmer's, on Water Street.

An excellent place to get Clothing, Shoes, Notions, either wholesale or retail, is at the popular house of Lowenburg and Jacobs 35 Market Square Norfolk, Va.

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS

are extensively COUNTERFEITED. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits. The genuine have the name of Job Moses on each package. All others are shortlive imitations. The GENUINE Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses and remove all obstructions, from whatever cause.

TO MARRIED LADIES

they are particularly suited. They will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the constitution. In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed. The circulars around each package give full directions and advice, or will be sent free to all writing for them, sealed from observation.

N. B.—In all cases where the GENUINE cannot be obtained, One Dollar enclosed to the Sole Proprietor, JOB MOSES, 18 Cortlandt St., New York, will insure a bottle of the genuine, containing Fifty Pills, by return mail, securely sealed from any knowledge of its contents.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS

Cure COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, DIFFICULT BREATHING, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION AND LUNG DISEASES. They have no taste of medicine, and any child will take them. Thousands have been restored to health that had before despaired. Testimony given in hundreds of cases. Ask for BRYAN'S PULMONIC WAFERS. Price 25 cents per box. JOB MOSES, Proprietor, 18 Cortlandt Street, New York.

THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY.

DELAMARRE'S SPECIFIC PILLS.

Prepared by J. GARANCIÈRE,
No. 214 Rue Lombard, Paris.

These pills are highly recommended by the entire Medical Faculty of France as the very best remedy in all cases of Spermatorhœa, or Seminal Weakness; Nightly, Daily or Premature Emissions; Sexual Weakness or Impotency; Weakness arising from Secret Habits and Sexual Excesses; Relaxation of the Genital Organs; Weak Spine; Deposits in the Urine, and all the deplorably train of Diseases arising from Overuse or Excesses. They cure when all other remedies fail. Pamphlet of Advice in each box, or will be sent Free to any address. Price $1 per Box. Sent by mail, securely sealed from all observation, on receipt of price. JOB MOSES, 18 CORTLANDT ST., New York. Sole General Agent for America.

A PERILOUS SEASON.—Glorious and delightful as the Summer weather is, its tropical heat is a severe trial to the vital powers. Even the strongest are sometimes prostrated by its effects. The common phrase applied to this condition of the body is "general debility." Now, general debility arises from, and includes a variety of ailments. The liver is more or less affected, the bowels are either constipated or too much relaxed, the stomach but half performs the work of digestion, the appetite is poor, and the spirits depressed. This is what is called general debility. It is a general disarrangement of all the physical functions, and requires as a remedy a medicine that will regulate them all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose. Its general operation is not confined to a single organ. If the liver is affected, it restores its tone. If the stomach is torpied, it regenerates it. If the nerves are tremulous and weak, it braces and reinforces them. If the mind, whice ever sympathizes with the body, is gloomy and despondent, it relives the difficulty, and soon brings the whole mechanism of the body into harmony with the laws of health.

There is no civilized nation in the Wescern Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostettor's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective, and antibilious medicine is not known and appreciated. Throughout the Tropics it is considered, both by the people and the profession the standard specific. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world.

Beware of the Bitters made of acrid and dangerous materials, which unscupulous parties are endeavoring to foist upon the public has no guarantee that they are not poisonous. Adhere to the tried remedy Hostetter's Bitters, sold only in glass, and never in kegs or barrel

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The "Dog Days" and their Danger.

At this season of the year the blood is apt fo become impure, the appetite poor, the skin sallow, the body enfeebled, the system relaxed making it susceptible to attacks of chills and fevers, rheumatism, eruptions of the skin, and the development of the effects of the injudicious use of calomel. All this trouble may be avoided by the use of a few bottles of Dr. Tutt's Sarsaparilla and Queen's Delight. It is harmless in its effects, but a powerful enemy to diseases. Try it, and you will find it a friend in need.

Dr. Tutt's Hair Dye Acts Instintaneously.

ASTHMA.—Jonas Whitcomb's Remedy. Prepared from a German receipt obtained by the late Jonas Whitcombe, in Europe. It alleviated this disorder in his case when all other appliances of medical skill had been abandoned. Joseph Burnett & Co., Boston. For sale by all Druggists.

SUBSTITUTES IN THE DENTAL RANKS are not desirable; therefore, keep the natural teeth sound and and pure with that wholesome vegetable elixir Sozodont. Do this, and they will last as long as the breath lasts, and the breath itself will never be tainted.

TO OWNERS OF HORSES AND CATTLE.—Tobias, Derby Condition Powders are warranted superior to any others, or no pay, for the cure of Distemper, Worms, Bots, Coughs, Hyde Bound, Cold, &c., in Horses, and Colds, Coughs, Loss of Milk, Black Tongue, Horn Distemper, &c., in Cattle. Price 25 Cents. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York.

PHYSIOLOGISTS SAY THAT OUR BODIES are renewed once in seven years. The material of which they are reconstructed is the blood, and unless it be fully charged with the elements of vitality, the strength and health of the system declines. Of all blood purifiants, Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters is the safest and most infallible. There is no disease, arising from depravation of the blood, which it will not speedily cure.

FOR DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion, depression of spirits, and general depility in their various forms; also as a preventive against Fever and Ague, and other intermittent fevers, the Ferro-phosphorated Elixer of Calisaya," made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York and sold by all Druggist, is the best tonic, and as a tonic for patients recoverine from fever or other sickness it has no dqual.

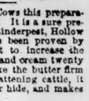
FOUTZ'S CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.



In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

Horseshoing.

Many articles on this subject have been published, and indeed the shoeing of horses is receiving great attention at present from intelligent and practical minds, and will doubtless lead to the happiest and most humane results. Since the first shoe was nailed on the horses foot to the present time, the most ignorant of men have been assigned to the business of horseshoeing; and their whole duty seems to have been to fashion the horse's foot to fit a piece of circular iron, and then to nail the latter firmly to the former. Veterinary surgeons and farriers of intelligence have written learned works on horseshoing; but as they never shod a horse, and as the persons who shoe horses never read books, the veterinarian literature has done little or no good; and the blacksmith continues on his old way laming horses, and will continue to do so until the end of time, unless gentlemen of intelligence owning horses will become acquainted with the horse's foot, and inspect and see the shoes put on to fit the foot, instead of the foot being fitted to the shoe. In former years a horseshoe was—well, it was a horse shoe—and if well nailed on the smith and the owner of the horse thought that their whole duty had been performed. A horse's foot seems to have been considered a solid piece of horn, the anatomy of which was of no consequence. Happily, attention has been drawn to this subject within a short space of time, and that beautiful piece of nature's mechanism, the horse's foot, is receiving a large share of thought, and forming a study for many who have never handled a smith's tools, but whose love for horse flesh prompts them to efforts in behalf of the animal which will be productive of the best results, and change generally the system of shoeing.—St. Joseph Herald.

Dry Earth for Poultry Houses.

The employment of dry, pulverized earth as the means of deodorizing poultry houses, is worthy of more attention than it has hitherto received. The fact that from four to five hundred fowls can, by this aid be kept in one building for months together, with less smell than is to be found in any ordinary fowl house capable of accommodating a dozen chickens, is very conclusive as to its efficacy. In the building of the National Company, where this fact has been ascertained, seven or eight fowls are kept in each compartment twelve feet by three, and yet there is no smell or trace of moisture. Mr. Grey in informs us that if a larger number are put into each run, the ground becomes moist, ceases to deodorize, and the birds at once become unhealthy. It should be stated that the droppings that fall from the perches during the night are removed from the runs each morning and the dry earth only receives the manure that falls during the day; this has its moisture absored so speedily by the earth that it at once becomes pulverized, mixed with the soil, and censes to smell. So powerful is the deodorizing effects of the earth that it does not require to be renewed in the runs for many weeks together.

Salt for Peach Trees.

I have found from observation, experiment, and inquiry that common or rock salt, or what salt fish (mackerel for instance) are packed in, is a great remedy for yellows and other diseases in peach trees, prolonging health and life. We have a large one in a vegetable garden, neglected so the body is almost destroyed from the ravages of the little white worms but last Spring I flung one peck of salt; around close to and within four feet of the trunk, and, strange to say, it has not "Winter-killed," and is a healthy looking tree, with fruit well set upon it. There is another, some six or seven years old, growing lower side of an asparagus bed, which has each year an application of manure and salt, which, of course, washed down in part on the peach tree, which came up and has lived, and is comfortably filled with fruit on the very spot where an old one lived and bore fruit, except when the warm February days helped blast the buds. I could mention experiences on a larger scale agreeing with my own. E. B.

Sheep As Weed Exterminators

It may not be known to farmers generaly, that it is a common practice in some parts of the country to turn sheep into the potato field, for the purpose of eating down weeds. The sheep will not touch the potato vine. This pasturing with sheep is advantageous, when the crop is a late planted one, so that the hoeing cannot be completed until after the haying or harvesting is finished. At the growing season it is the farmer's aim to keep down grass and weeds, so they may be covered by cultivator and hoe, when these are used. Pasturing with sheep will attain this object. Early planted crops, the cultivation of which is completed in the early part of the summer, frequently become grassy and weedy, before the time of digging, when the tops precludes cultivation. In this stage the sheep are economical weeders. It is hardly necessary to mention that the feed thus given to the sheep, makes a double profit, inasmuch as it costs absolutely nothing, while labor is saved, and weeds prevented from seeding.

A correspondent to the Practical Farmer says he feeds his stock on a teaspoonfull of sulpher to each animal, with salt once in two weeks. When he has done so, no vermin has troubled them, and his dairy cows have not been affected with garget nor his sheep with grub in the head. He has practised this for twenty years.

The dog census of the United States is put down at 21,000,000. At a moderate computation each animal costs $8 a year, making a total of $168,000,000. Of the number upwards of 100,000 go mad annually, and bite about 10,000 people. On the whole, the crop cannot be said to pay.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman says: "If any of your readers are troubled with lice on cattle, tell them to try brine. It is the easiest and surest remedy I ever used, My hogs I found coverd with ticks this summer, something I never heard of before, and salt water twice applied cleared them."

A cow's age may be determined by the teeth, but the horns are the surest method. Count the rings around the horn and add to this number three years, which is the lapse of time before any rings make their appearance.

John Randolph met an enemy in the street, one day, who refused to give him half the sidewalk, saying that he never turned out for a rascal. "I do," said Randolph, stepping aside and politely lifting his hat, "Pass on, sir."

The purest joy is unspeakable—the most impressive prayer is silent, and the most solemn preacher at a funeral is the silent one whose lips are cold.

An Iowa Agricultural college library, at Ames, numbers 2,400 volumes, the collection of which began in 1870.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS

AGAINST

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

Loyal citizens of North Carolina and other Southern States, will be pleased to learn that Congress at the last session passed a law for a commission to be appointed to examine and report on all claims that may be presented to them for Quartermaster and Commissary stores furnished the Federal Army during the late war.

The undersigned are prepared to furnish blanks, and give all information to those having claims—and to prosecutel the same to final settlement. Having received the endorsement for ability, &c., from the Hon. Senators Messrs. Pool and Abbott and the Representatives from North Carolina—we believe that we can give satisfaction to all who entrust their claims to us.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalisis and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equel it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing. farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses. all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2.000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church. school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3.000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3.000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15.000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3.500, $7.00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A Farm of 200 acres within one mile of Elizabeth City, with good two story dwelling, large barn and stables, and all necessary outhouses, orchard of fine fruit trees, and a large number of ornamental trees and shrubbery around dwelling. This farm is on one of the most public roads in the County—is in a high state of cultivation—has fine and durable fences, &c. Altogether, it is the richest land and most desirable location, anywhere in the neighborhood of the town. Price $6000—one-half cash, balance in easy payments.

PREPARED WHEAT

AND

SUGAR OF MILK.

Patented July 23d, 1872.

A FARINACEOUS FOOD FOR INVALIDS AND INFANTS.

By the peculiar process in which this preparation is made, all the flesh forming constituents—EARTHY and SALINE elements of the grain are retained, with none of the STARCH, all of which being converted into Dextrine. It contains all the Lime, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Iron and Manganese for the animal juices, and Gum and Fecula for respiration and fatty tissue, with the proteine compounds (Gluten, Albumen &c.) from which nerve and muscular tissues are formed.

It is believed by the most intelligent men that much of the suffering, sickness and mortality of mankind is traceable to deficient or faulty nutrition. The same cause may also be assigned the frequent disapointment of physicians in the result of the action of most approved remedies.

We feel sure that this article will supply the deficiency.

Sugar of Milk.

[LACTIN.]

Is a chrystalized sugar, obtained from the whey of cow's milk by evoporation. It is manufactured largely in Switzerland and the Bavarian Alps as an article of food and for medical purposes.

It has been used considerably in England as a non-nitrogenous article of diet in Consumption and other Pulmonary Diseases, and with excelent effect in extreme Irritability of the Stomach, (see Wood & Bache's Dispensatory.)

We manufacture 2 grades :—No. 1, in yellow wrapper, ground coarse, to be eaten as cracked wheat, with cream. No. 2, white wrapper, is ground into Flour for Puddings, Blanc-Mange and Bread.

DIRECTIONS.

For Making Mush with No. 1, Ground Coarce.—Mix four tablespoonfuls of the Wheat with a gill of cold water; rub into a smooth paste; then pour it into a pint of boiling water, stirring briskly, boil for 20 minutes.

To be eaten with rich cream.

For Puddings, &c. use No. 2, Ground Fine.—Mix a tablespoonful of the food with a small quantity of cold water rub to a smooth paste; add to one-half pint of boiling water, constantly stirring, and boil about 8 minutes over a moderate fire. Add milk and flavor to taste. For bread, use as ordinary flour.

What Horace Greeley Thinks of the Democratic Party.

EXTRACTS, RICH, RARE AND RACY.

Now that Mr. Greeley has become the leader of the Democracy, we present the following extracts from editorials of the New York Tribune, writen by Mr. Greeley during the forty years of his editorial life. They are refreshing, and will not nauseate Democrats who have lost all self-respect,—forsaken principle in their hunt for office,—and become first-class dirt-eaters. The extracts are as follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE DISEASE.

"Mr. Webster was not only a gentleman, but he had the elements of moral greatness; and he had his faults as well. He failed only in one respect; and in this respect I differ from him—he wanted to be President, and I don't.—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

OUR GREATEST MAN.

"We have seen our greatest man, Mr. Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early, and died of it at a very old age."—Horace Geeley, in 1868.

THE FATE OF GEN. CASS.

"Gen. Lewis Cass died at 82, and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one ever escapes who catches the disease: he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and an observer at an early age, I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the best of our public men, and have carefully avoided it."—Horace Greeley, in 1866.

THE GOOD SENSE OF GEN. GRANT.

"We, at least, in our day, have a President-elect who did not try to be President. He was elected mainly on that account."—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

THE ENEMY OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

"If the Democratic party were called upon to decide between Grant and myself, I know that their regard for what they must call principle would induce nine-tenths of them to vote against me. Why? I am a decided enemy of that party, even in its most respectable aspects."—Horace Greeley, in 1871.

PICTURES OF THE DEMOCRACY.

"Every one who chooses to live by pugilism or gambling or harlotry, with nearly every keeper of a tippling house, is politically a Democrat."—Horace Greeley.

IGNORANCE A DEMOCRATIC ALLY.

"If there were not a newspaper or a common school in the country, the Democratic party would be far stronger than it is."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC ESSENTIALS.

"The essential articles of the Democratic creed [are] 'love rum and hate niggers.' The less one learns and knows, the more certain he is to vote the regular ticket from A to izzard."—Horace Greeley.

WHO ARE DEMOCRATS.

"We thereupon asked our contemporary to state frankly whether the pugilists, blacklegs, thieves, burglars, keepers of dens of prostitution, etc., etc., * * * were not almost unanimously Democrats."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC VIRTUES.

"To smoke is a Democratic virtue; to chew is that virtue intensified; to drink rum is that virtue in the superlative."—Horace Greeley.

THE DANGEROUS CLASSES ALL DEMOCRATS.

"A purely selfish interists attaches the lewd, ruffianly, criminal, and dangerous classes to the Democratic party."—Horace Greeley.

SIX IN A BED.

"This would amount to six in a bed, exclusive of any other vermin, for every Democratic couch in the State of New York, including those at Sing Sing and Auburn."—Horace Greeley.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATS.

"Point wherever you please to an election district which you will pronounce morally rotten, given up in great part to debauchery and vice; where voters subsist mainly by keeping policy-offices, gambling houses, grog-shops and darker dens of infamy, and that district will be found at nearly or quite every election giving a majority for that which styles itself 'the Democratic party.' Take all the haunts of debauchery in the land, and you will find nine tenths of their master spirits active partisans of that same Democracy. What is the instinct, the sympathetic chord, which attaches them so uniformly to this party? Will you consider?"—Horace Greeley.

REBEL DEMOCRACY.

"The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South, with its Northern allies and simpathisers. It is rebel at the core to-day. It would come into power with the hate, the chagrin, the wrath, the mortification of ten bitter years to impel and guide its steps. It would devote itself to taking off or reducing tax after tax until the Treasury was deprived of the means of paying interest on the national debt, and would hail the tidings of national bankruptcy with unalloyed gladness and unconcealed exultation. Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our national sins, we must hope that this disgrace and humiliation will be spared us."—Horace Greely.

THE FEROCIOUS PROTECTIONIST."

"You only err as to the proper candidate. I am not the man you need. Your party is modestly Free Trade, and I am a ferocious Protectionist. I have no doubt that I might be nominated and elected by your help but it would place us all in a false position."—Horace Greeley to P. Donan, in 1871.

"THE BAYNOT LAW OF 1870"

"It is urged by the Democratic organs that the law is to be enforced in State and municipal elections. This is done to make it more obnoxions, if that be possible, to their party. But, unfortunately, this is an error. The law applies only to presidential and congressional election, though we heartily wish it could be made to apply to all others."—Horace Greeley.

THE KU KLUX LAW.

"I hold our Government bound by its duty of protecting our citizens in their fundamental rights, to pass and enforce laws for the extirpation of the execrable Ku Klux conspiricy; and, if it has not the power to do it, then I say our Government is no government, but a sham. I, therefore, on every proper occasion, advocated and justified the Ku Klux Act. I hold it especially desirable for the South; and, if it does not prove strong enough to effect its pourpose, I hope it will be made stronger and stronger."—Horace Greely in 1872!

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S LINEL SUCCESSOR.

"Many will be surprised at the President's hearty endorsement of civil service reform [in his message of 1870;] but he has been there all along. The three President's summing up of the leading objects of his policy, and especially his desire to secure a pure and untrameled vote, must appeal cogently to the judgement and affections of the American people. He is Abraham Lincoln's lineal successor; and the populor heart beats in unison with his administration and his efforts."—Horace Greeley in 1870
